Re: Booking Civil and Family Trials in Vancouver

Effective November 1, 2024 the Court will transition to online booking with two processes for booking civil and family trials: one for newly released trial dates, and one for currently available trial dates.

For newly released dates:

- Parties/counsel will submit, within a booking window of seven days, a ranked list of their preferred dates among the newly released trial dates. After the booking window has closed, parties/counsel who submitted requests will receive an email confirming whether their request was successful or not.

For currently available dates:

- For trial dates that are currently available, parties/counsel will be able to book online the same way they would book for conferences (CPCs, JCCs, and TMCs).

Scheduling will be able to assist parties/counsel who are unable to book online by calling 604-660-2853.

New dates for all Civil and Family trials will continue to be released 18 months out on a rolling basis. The window to request those dates will open on the 1st of each month and close on the 7th - inclusive of weekends and holidays. Please be advised that these newly released trial dates can only be booked using COBS. More information on COBS can be found here.

The below dates reflect the day the trial calendars open for booking a particular month, not the next available trial dates.

Trials with estimates of 1 - 5 days must complete within the week they are booked; hence a 5-day trial cannot be booked for a week that includes a statutory holiday and a 3-day trial cannot be booked to start on a Thursday.

Trials with estimates of 6 - 19 days are only booked to commence on Mondays (or Tuesdays if Monday is a statutory holiday).

Trials estimated to take 10 or 15 days are not booked into "short weeks" or a time frame that overlaps a statutory holiday or a Judicial Conference week.

Please consult the Court Calendars posted on the Scheduling website for a detailed list of sitting days.
